Trail Smoke Eaters are a tight team, but fight and determination have carried them through, according to the manager, Harry Irvine. "They rely largely on a passing game," added Harry, who also is secretary-treasurer of the club.

The regular schedule this season for the West Kootenay League, the other members of which are Nelson and Kimberley, consisted of 20 games, 10 at home for each club. Trail had a tough five-game series with Nelson for the league title and the B.C. final with New Westminster was another strenuous affair.

The West Kootenay circuit, according to Irvine had a very successful season with good crowds at all league games and excellent for the playoffs. Special thanks from Trail for both finals at Nelson.

IT RAINED ALL DAY prior to the Calgary playoff game, but that didn't stop the lineup forming at 7 a.m., umbrellas, benches and blankets helping to solve the immediate problem.

Irvine says Trail hockey enthusiasts are not at all proud of their 19 to 25 risk and they are fighting for a new arena with a seating accommodation of around 5000.

HE EXPLAINED that hockey there not only draws from the 9 a.m. population, but also from the surrounding area and including a considerable distance into Washington. One neighbourhood in town a block of 100 seats at a recent game.

Don Fleming, sports editor of the Trail Times, is travelling with the club and Dr. Kenneth, the team physician is in town. Murdoch is in training and the Trail supporters also made the trip.

PLAYING IN the Edmonton arena will be "old stuff" for selected Phil Horn re-elected.

CNR Calder is Sixth Club In Junior Baseball League

One more team was admitted to the Edmonton Junior Baseball League, making it a six team loop and Phil Horn was re-elected president for the season.

At the meeting held last night, the club was re-elected. At the meeting held last night, the club was re-elected.

The sixth team, chosen from the city of Edmonton, is the CNR Calder side. The other five clubs are Arrows, Canadians, Edmonton, and two others.

League games will be played at Clarke Stadium again and tentatively plans are to schedule games for Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights and Sunday afternoons.

The question of players moving up to the senior ranks came in for wide discussion. It was decided that any player who dresses for more than one senior game will be declared ineligible to participate in further junior games.

It was also decided that the deadline for contracts to be in the hands of secretary-treasurer George Ward would be July 15, approximately a month and a half from the opening day. Opening date has not yet been set.

Those attending last night's meeting, in addition to the officers, were Bill Bull, Art Wray, Dave Barr, Blackie, W. T. Derrington, Canadian, Harry Sims, Mel Leale, Paul Marini, Archie Allen, South Side, Harry Miller, Edmonton Athletic Club.

WINNIPEG, April 10.—(CP)—No player will be permitted to join professional club until he has played at least two seasons in junior or until he has reached the age of 19 years if a recommendation of the executive of the Manitoba Junior Hockey Association is adopted by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

At a meeting of the MAHA executive, held Monday night, it was decided to place the recommendation of the executive of the MAHA, scheduled for Vancouver next month.

Plan Inter-City Games

Three-Team Senior League To Operate at Renfrew Park

A three-team semi-pro ball pool, to be known as the Edmonton Senior Football League will provide the action for the local fans at Renfrew Park this summer, it was announced last night by the trio to whom the lease to the park was granted by the city on Tuesday.

This group, which will run the park as well as the league, consists of John Dury, president, with Remy Mullen and Capt. John Beatty acting as vice-presidents.

It is the intention to bring in enough professionals for three teams, with one team from Edmonton and western Canadian players. They have been in touch with Seattle Railway and Pacific Coast League and New York Yankees in their efforts to obtain the key men for each team, but as yet nothing definite can be announced.

"Our aim is to provide the fans with the best of the league," said Dury.

Inter-city games will be played in the regular standing 10 of the main proposals of the league. It is expected that the league will be in operation by the end of the week of August, in order to start the season.

Suggestions are invited for a two season ticket will go to the person who suggests a team. Suggested names will be taken into consideration. The league is planned and the question of Sunday games is being explored.

It is also planned to introduce Wednesday afternoon games at Renfrew as an experiment. Doubtless there will be played during the mid-week day, but it is not likely games will be scheduled regularly for the half-holiday day to be used for postponed games.

It was also announced last night that the Edmonton team will be known as the Edmonton Senior Football League. The team will be known as the Edmonton Senior Football League.

Another suggestion was that when a team force a face off inside the opposition's blue line all puck should be taken back to the attacking team's territory.

For instance, if a puck is taken back to the attacking team's territory, the puck should be taken back to the attacking team's territory.

Low Temperature Welding Is Shown

A discovery in metallurgy held no high priority during the war, bears promise of revolutionizing an important phase of mechanics and metal construction, according to M. R. Eager, Canadian regional manager for the Electric Welding Alliance, Inc., of New York.

MR. EAGER is in Edmonton demonstrating the new principle of low temperature welding, the discovery in question, and is organizing for representation of his company here. He is staying at the Macdonald hotel.

The new principle which is applied with special rods and fluxes was used in construction of the atomic bombs that blasted Hiroshima and Nagasaki, Mr. Eager stated. It was also employed in construction of American aircraft used in the Pacific, as well as in developments of American rocket bombs introduced in the latter part of the war.

ADVANTAGES over the conventional extreme heat method of welding is that it does not fuse or melt the metals to which it is being applied, explained Mr. Eager, with the result that no portion of the metals under the operation become impaired by molecular destruction which usually occurs at the perimeter of extreme heat welding.

During the interview the representative displayed an example of the work of the low temperature method. Three pieces of metal were welded into one. They were brass, copper and steel.

He stated that under the method now generally employed the flux was entirely eliminated.

"IN THE SAME WAY that penicillin and the sulfa drugs changed the aspect of therapeutics, the new low temperature welding process will revolutionize welding," predicted Mr. Eager.

He will be in Edmonton for the next two weeks.

Woman Teller Scorns Threat Of East Bandit

TORONTO, April 10.—(CP)—A girl bank teller's calmness frustrated a robbery of the Royal Bank's downtown branch at Richmond and Yonge streets here yesterday when she disregarded a threat to kill her and refused to hand over a stack of bills.

Miss Emily Schaefer, the teller, looked up to read a note which a youthful gunman pushed through her cage. It read: "Teller, hand no alarm. I have a gun. Hand it over or I will kill you."

Miss Schaefer calmly handed the note back and said: "I haven't time for that nonsense, besides, I am too busy."

Dr. G. F. McNally, who retired on April 1 as deputy minister of education for the province is shown at a dinner given in his honor at the Macdonald hotel on Tuesday night. The dinner was attended by more than 250 educationists from all over the province. The former deputy minister is flanked by Hon. R. Earl Analek, minister of education, and Mrs. Analek.

Forty Years of Service Is Recognized Tribute Paid Noted Educationist

Forty years of service to education, over a period which took him from the early, rugged pioneer days of Alberta to the highly developed school system of the province today, was recognized by educationists from all over the province at a dinner given in honor of Dr. G. Fred McNally in the Macdonald hotel Tuesday night.

DR. McNALLY retired from the appointment of deputy minister of education on April 1 this year. He had risen to this post since his arrival in 1906 as a school teacher, arriving successively as teacher, principal, superintendent, and deputy minister.

His career and his contributions to education in Alberta were reviewed in an illuminated address presented to him on Tuesday night by Hon. R. Earl Analek, minister of education.

THE ADDRESS paid particular tribute to the former deputy minister's work in the school book branch, the correspondence branch, the enterprise program, the larger unit of school administration and the reform of teacher-training in the province—but also mentioned that these were but a few of the developments in which he had the opportunity to exercise his "energetic and youthful understanding of men and mature philosophy."

At the same time he had been able to edit text books and write professional articles.

HE WAS ALSO BEEN a member of the board of governors of the University of Alberta, chairman of the youth training and war emergency committees, chairman of the committee on education of the Canadian Youth Commission and the National Vocational Training Advisory Board.

Dr. W. H. Swift, who succeeded him as deputy minister, presented Dr. McNally with a bound volume of letters of tribute from all across Canada.

Other speakers who recalled memories of Dr. McNally's valued services were Premier Ernest Manning; Dr. John Macdonald, acting president of the University of Alberta; H. E. Spencer, president of the Alberta School Trustees' Association; and H. C. Melman, president of the Alberta Teachers' Association.

Legion Members Pay Tribute Commemorate Vimy Victory At Cenotaph Service Here

The memory of fallen comrades and the glory of a great military achievement both received recognition in Edmonton Tuesday night when members of the Edmonton branch, Canadian Legion, BESL, took part in a parade to Edmonton's cenotaph.

Reports Are Made To Shareholders

More than 250 shareholders of the Great West Life Insurance Co. gathered at the general meeting called Tuesday night to deliver reports and outline plans for the prospecting season on the properties of the company in the Yellowknife territory.

THE MEETING was held in the Masonic Temple and officers of the company who were present included: Charles E. Gorman, president; W. H. Miley, vice-president; Norman Hurch, secretary-treasurer; K. P. Duggan, director; and D. A. Campbell, managing director.

Interest was exhibited in the results of the year's work, and Mr. Campbell said that preparations were now under way for field crews to enter these properties to commence the new season of prospecting and sampling work at an early date.

IN REVERENT SILENCE they watched Percy Gwynne, president of the branch, lay a wreath at the foot of the Cenotaph; heard the Last Post ring out its solemn notes; watched their comrades march in a brief march from the Memorial Hall to the Cenotaph to play the plaintive "Lament"; and heard the trumpet ring out the call of reverence in "Beveille."

They had marched from the Memorial Hall to the Cenotaph to the music of the Legion's pipe band, under the direction of Pipe Major W. H. Miley, vice-president; Norman Hurch, secretary-treasurer; K. P. Duggan, director; and D. A. Campbell, managing director.

OLD veterans and new took part in the parade which also included a group of ex-servicemen with Laura Johnston in charge. Major R. C. Arthur, M.C., acted as parade marshal and Jack Jones as parade sergeant-major.

G. SCOTT was in charge of the color party, while J. Mitchell and D. Clarke were standard-bearers. Color escort was A. Lind and D. Mills. Herbert Malnes and Albert Jones were drummers at the head of the parade.

THE PARADE returned to the Memorial Hall from the cenotaph by way of Jasper Avenue.

They had honored the fallen dead and should now celebrate the victory which had been achieved at Vimy, Percy Gwynne told the Legionists in a brief speech at the smoker which followed the parade.

ONLY OTHER SPEAKER of the evening was Harper Prowse, M.A., who thanked the old veterans for the work they had done in making Canada's rehabilitation program the finest in the world.

"It is not perfect," he admitted, but it is better than that offered by veterans returning to any other country."

George Glave was chairman of the smoker which was led through the evening by Jack Jones, who introduced a number of the artists and who led in the spirited comedy singing.

Other contributions to the evening's entertainment included Williams, baritone; J. Grant, variety artist; and F. Adams, comedy violinist. Musical numbers by the band were sprinkled throughout the program.

Battle of Vimy Ridge was commemorated by South Side Branch 150 of the Canadian Legion at a smoker concert Tuesday attended in Calgary more than 100.

Vimy Ridge Heroes Remembered

Percy J. Gwynne, president of the Edmonton branch, BESL, is seen above laying a wreath at the foot of the Edmonton Cenotaph, after a brief march from the Memorial Hall on Tuesday night, when old and new veterans gathered to do reverence to the memory of those who had fallen in the battle of Vimy Ridge which was fought on April 9, 1917.

Spurred the meeting with a few brief remarks on the significance of Vimy Ridge where the Canadian Corps opened up the top as a great fighting nation.

George Gordan, second vice-president, was chairman.

A PROGRAM of songs featuring Charlie Edwards, baritone; Jack Bell, Percy Stone and R. Nowell, was greatly enjoyed.

Jack Seaton and Harry Rushon were pianists.

Well-known among Edmonton businessmen as a visitor to this city on behalf of Western Supplies Ltd., at Calgary, Charles Edward Morris, who died Tuesday night after a sudden illness. He was 68 years old.

Mr. Morris was the founder of the wholesale planning and building supply firm of Bell and Morris in Calgary. The firm was taken over two years ago by David Burr.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

WHEN A MOTHER is told that it is wise to wean the child from a bottle at about 9 months and complete the weaning by the first year or thereabouts, it is because prolonged bottle-feeding has more disadvantages than benefits for the child.

Mothers tend to point out the one advantage (not always that which seems apparent to them and ignores all the other undesirable aspects of this habit).

A YOUNG MOTHER cannot get the child to go to sleep at night. She explains, "My 2-year-old is in good health and eats well. She has a walk or a ride in her carriage daily. She plays well throughout the day. This is her diet. She has orange juice and oil every day and tomato juice and all kinds of soup. She is not too much for vegetables but I get her to take two each day. She also has meat, fish, cottage cheese, bread and butter and macula. She has two bottles of milk, one in the morning, the other at night, sometimes a bottle of cocoa. She drinks milk but I find she takes more by bottle than by the bottle. She has an hour's sleep every day. When I put her to bed she rolls and tumbles and gets so cross and doesn't know what she wants. I take her up and give her a bottle of orange juice, or milk, or she will stay awake as long as I sit there. What am I doing that is wrong?"

ONE BIG MISTAKE is that bottle habit. At two years a child should eat and drink like a child and not like an infant. All that milk, orange juice, soup and water detract from her appetite for solid foods, and she might be better without such quantities of liquid. IT MUST BE KEPT IN MIND, too, that enumerating all the foods a child takes does not make it clear whether these appear in the diet some of the time, or all of the time. Every child of two needs daily some of the following: cereals; meat; fish or chicken; eggs; milk; vegetables; fruits; but not fruit juices and cooked fruits. And in addition some form of vitamin D.

I feel sure that to give the child just the milk that she will drink willingly at the end of the meal, and if this amount is small to use more milk in the foods themselves, will result in a better diet and better sleeping habits.

Our latest No. 26 Diet from One to Two Years, may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Kilburn, London, sends a World War I Memorial dedicated to the memory of 785,000 horses killed during the conflict.
